

16 October 1952

STATINTL

[redacted] called Mr. Pforzheimer on 16 October 1952 and asked for a slight extension of the time permitted him to answer the Loyalty Board interrogations. He stated that he was meeting an office deadline, must spend the 17th at the dentist, and was planning on being away this weekend. As a result, I extended the time for answering to close of business on 21 October 1952.
